One set of models relies heavily on the theory of subconscious mental processes and uncontrollable events. For example, Campbell (1960) and Simonton (1988) propose that creative ideas emerge from a largely uncontrollable Darwinian process of random variation and natural selection. The basic idea behind what they call the "chance configuration theory" dates back to the 1880s and the writings of ...

The Argument for and Against the Case Study Research Design. Some argue that because a case study is such a narrow field that its results cannot be extrapolated to fit an entire question and that they show only one narrow example. On the other hand, it is argued that a case study provides more realistic responses than a purely statistical survey.
