Nursing Documentation 101. Most health care providers know that accurate documentation (also known as charting, recording and reporting) is an important component of their professional and legal responsibilities. Nursing organizations have standards of practice (or practice guidelines) and specific competencies that address quality documentation, not just "good charting".

Documentation is such an essential part of nursing. To many it seems a waste of time. They'd rather spend their time with the patients, but in the interest of continuity, we have to be able to communicate information about the patient and the care we have given.
