Recently my H56 suddenly decided that it would power itself off within 10 or 20 seconds of starting up (every time), so after trying in vain to work out what was wrong with it I ordered a new lamp. The time from startup to power-off was decreasing each time, so there was no opportunity to check the ...

The fan noise on the H56 is specified at 32 dB, but the noise and hot air exited the front of the projector where, in my case, the seating area was located. Thus, I found the H56 to be a bit noisier than other projectors I have used that had similar specifications, and where the fan noise is directed away from the user.
